The Valley's Dam Debate is far from over

By Elizabeth Cowley

On November 7 Peninsula residents voted not to approve Measure C, the $116 million bond issue to construct the New Los Padres Dam. With over $100,000 in campaign funding to promote the dam and the support of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD), the opposition, with just over $40,000 in campaign funding, received 57% of the vote. Cal-Am has indicated that it could pursue construction of the dam regardless of the vote, so what happens now?

Charity Crane, a member of the Citizens for Alternative Water Sources (CAWS) group based in Cachagua said "Last night (November 7) the democratic process won. We had a very small budget and a few people but we came through and won against a couple hundred thousand dollars of financing from developers and the MPWMD. We were not even allowed to vote, most CAWS members are Cachagua residents and Essalen Indians who could not vote." If Cal-Am were to pursue constructing the dam on its own, Charity Crane said that CAWS would pursue litigation, joining with the California Sports Fisherman and Essalen Indians or file a suit of its own. Ms. Crane added, "We hope it does not come to that. This vote is a mandate to Cal-Am and the MPWMD that we do not want a dam on the Carmel River, period."

The MPWMD has spent 17 years and over $30 million to complete the studies, engineering and permitting for the New Los Padres Dam. The no vote on Measure C means that the MPWMD can not issue the $116 million bond issue to finance the dam however the permits are transferable to another public or private entity.

An attempt to build the dam independently by Cal-Am or others would likely meet with tremendous resistance as the voters have said no and there are still several lawsuits pending against the New Los Padres Dam which would run costs up substantially. Most recently, the Sierra Club, California Sports Fishermen's Association, and the Steelhead Association filed suit in Monterey Superior Court against the SWRCB on the basis that it is not protecting Public Trust interests and that the New Los Padres Dam permit does not protect the Carmel River and allow sufficient instream flow to support the steelhead and riparian environment. Fran Farina, MPWMD Chair said "This suit will bring the state into this picture sooner than people had expected." If the Sierra Club wins this suit it could decrease the amount of water available from a dam for development which would make it less desirable to the development interests who were in support of Measure C. It could also mean further cutbacks in Cal-Am production from the Carmel River.

The MPWMD had a meeting the morning of November 8 to discuss how to proceed. Fran Farina said "We still have to evaluate water augmentation as well as how to reduce water demand." At the November 20 MPWMD meeting, Ms. Farina expects that staff will bring forth recommendations on how to accomplish this but she does not expect a decision on these recommendations until the December meeting when the newly elected Board members take their position. Ms. Farina added "It is important to note that two qualified individuals were elected to the MPWMD Board and they support the dam and have extensive credentials in water augmentation." Fran Farina said that the dam focus is with Cal-Am as it is the appropriate place for the project at this time. Ms. Farina said "From the MPWMD perspective we serve two masters, the voters and the SWRCB. They are giving us conflicting messages."

Larry Foy, Cal-Am Vice President, said that Cal-Am has to talk to a lot of people before deciding whether to pursue building the dam or to pursue other alternatives. Cal-Am intends to meet with the SWRCB and the Public Utilities Commission in the near future. In addition Mr. Foy said, "I want to sit down and confer with the MPWMD as to what its direction is and speak to the new directors and see what they see their agency doing and how we want to go forth." Mr. Foy further said "I would like to meet with the opposition who profess they have alternatives....I am receptive to hearing their ideas." Other than that Mr. Foy said it is business as usual and Cal-Am will continue to supply water to the people who need it.

Carmel High students make a good showing in National Merit Scholar Program

The principal, Eric Paulson, of Carmel High School, announced today that Peter Bolton, Russell Brunet, Jennifer Donnelly, Bodhi Garrett, Lauren Picard, Kelly Vasquez and David Wiese have been named Commended Students in the 1996 National Merit Scholarship Program. A Letter of Commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program, will be presented by the principal to these scholastically talented seniors.

About 35,000 Commended Students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise. They placed among the top five percent of more than a million students who entered the 1996 Merit Program by taking the 1994 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Although the qualifying test scores of Commended Seniors are outstanding, they are slightly below the level required to continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship awards to be offered in 1996.

Cachagua Flea Market this weekend

The first Cachagua Community Flea Market is scheduled for Saturday, November 11 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Cachagua Community Center "Rock House" and park near Los Padres Dam. Many Cachagua Valley residents live in remote areas that make a typical garage sale difficult so they are pooling years of accumulated flea market and garage sale items for this inaugural event. Net proceeds from the event will benefit the Cachagua Community Center, Cachagua Volunteer Fire Department and Cachagua 4-H.

Antiques, cars, boats, household items, family heirlooms and collectibles will be for sale at the Cachagua Community Flea Market. In addition, there will be horse rentals, a horseshoe tournament, food and drink and a local jam session. Musicians are encouraged to bring an instrument.

Admission is free. The Cachagua Community Flea Market will be held rain or shine. No dogs, please. Booth space is available. Call 659-1857 to reserve a space or for more information.

Directions to the Cachagua Community Center Park: follow Carmel Valley Road approximately 3.5 miles past Carmel Valley Village to Cachagua Road. Turn right on Cachagua for approximately 5 miles to Nason Road. Turn right and follow the signs to the Cachagua Community Center Park.

VALLEY VOICE

Fran Farina

There's some progress to report on road and river activities in the valley.

The Board of Supervisors finally took action at their October 31 meeting and authorized a letter to be sent to Caltrans requesting congestion management improvements at the mouth of the valley. Don't you just love the jargon? Let me translate what this means.

The Sups specifically asked to have road improvements constructed during 1996 which consist of a "dual northbound right turn lane and a constrained merging lane of 650 feet" for the Highway 1/Carmel Valley Road intersection.

This work is to be accomplished at the same time Caltrans is constructing a "dual southbound left-turn lane and additional east and westbound lane on Carmel Valley Road from Carmel Rancho Boulevard to Highway 1."

In simple terms, they are asking for the coordination of two additional lanes - one out of and one into the valley -- on Carmel Valley Road between Carmel Rancho Boulevard and Highway 1, combined with a northbound lane to help us exit the valley.

While a lawsuit has been filed on behalf of the Hatton Canyon Freeway supporters to stop these improvements, Caltrans should be able to proceed with its design activities.

Maybe if we're lucky, we'll get some congestion relief at Carmel Valley Road and Highway 1 in 1996. Be sure to mark your calendar. It's something we'll all want to celebrate.

The truck traffic on Carmel Valley Road should indicate to most people that river restoration projects are in the works. Many private property owners are finishing their repairs. In addition, the County is proceeding in two areas (Rosie's Bridge and Rancho San Carlos Bridge) with major sand and gravel bar removal efforts.

The Water Management District has been working since May to construct the Sleepy Hollow steelhead rearing facility. This is a key element of the District's five year Mitigation Program. The facility will be used for rearing juvenile steelhead that are rescued from the lower Carmel River during late spring and summer months when there's insufficient streamflow.

A component of the project is a 900 foot rearing channel designed to rear a maximum of 45,000 juvenile steelhead.

This is the type of activity which is funded by the MPWMD fee on your Cal-Am water bill.

Back to the river restoration projects for one last thought. Since the water table levels are so high, the amount of time we have to do this work is limited. Property owners need to be moving forward without delay.

I've been told that the Farmer's Almanac predicts a wet winter. We learned some valuable lessons about our state of readiness. Most of us are in better shape to respond if we are challenged again. Let's hope we won't have to test our skills.

WHAT'S NEXT? Mel Vercoe

There's a good chance of my getting the Nobel Peace Prize. I've asked a U.S. Senator to sponsor me, and I've notified Oslo that I'd accept the Prize, if offered. What really helps is, that almost nobody, except Yours Truly, is working for big scale peace, trying to prevent some Eager Beavers in Washington from getting World War Three started in Bosnia, with the U.S. leading the charge and paying the bills.

True, a few timid voices in Congress have expressed concern that President Clinton's war to prove his heroism may backfire on everybody's (in both parties) chances in next year's election. NATO and the U.N. both seem more enthused about letting WW3 start, than about trying to stop it, and our general public, still recovering from the O.J. Simpson trial, hasn't bothered to notice that "nobody is steering the boat", that our country, facing bankruptcy and a slide into Third World Nation status, is being led into a totally senseless foreign conflict for no better reason than to satisfy a childish World Policeman fantasy.

So, while nobody else seems interested in correcting that problem, Yours Truly has been mailing letters to all of the Heads of State of the NATO and United Nations countries, trying to convince them that all is not well, that they, not the U.S., will be stuck with the bills, after our remarkable people in Washington manage to get a good war started, and that the American people are not likely to put up with another idiotic Viet Nam style war. I also try to get our Congress to undo the War Powers Act, which stupidly gave the President, one individual, the power to start a full scale war, all on his own.

Will I get the Peace Prize? No, it's more likely I'll be put on trial for trying to keep my country from getting into a war.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

Rancho San Carlos developers "dream team" have duped County officials again and cleared another hurdle, the Subdivision Committee. County is satisfied they found their water (200,000 acre feet on paper).

County is satisfied traffic will not be affected on Robinson Canyon Road but does say they must widen Garzas Bridge and remove the cattleguards. Why, if this road is not to be impacted by the development?

The extremely dangerous part of the road is the first five miles. The EIR, B-304, states up to 1200 cars per day will be using this road. Cal-Trans recommends no development be allowed until Highway 1 and Carmel Valley Road intersections are resolved physically.

County says the developers traffic expert has written a letter so everything is o.k. County agrees "colander" development is the same as clustering. Colander another buzz word the pros have come up with, as well as "homeland", "preserve", "wildlands", "openlands", "golf trail", "best management practice", "where feasible", etc.

Many peninsula residents are vigorously opposing the Los Padres Dam project. What about a golf course upstream of the peninsula's water supply? This could have a devastating impact on our clean water. MPWMD, where are you?

The viewshed of upper scenic Robinson Canyon road will be replaced with employee housing, athletic field, equipment and service maintenance yard, hotel, lodge, sewer plant and a small town. County says this is not significant.

The EIR, page S5 recommends no golf course the best alternative. County says the golf course is o.k.

The whole application is in conflict with the conditions of Supervisors' Resolution 93-115, which allowed the special zoning and density for this project. The "dream team" has reinterpreted this resolution and conditions to give themselves the green light to do anything they wish. County staff agrees.

Who is running this County anyway?

Michael H. Dormody
Monterey

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

I made a mistake in a letter you published and I wish to correct it.

While the lack of water at Rancho San Carlos is remarkable, it is not as small as I stated. I wrote "according to the Water District 11 acre feet per month is about enough water for 15-20 houses maximum." If that were true, 20 houses would be more than generous.

But, in my haste to read the Environmental Impact Report (EIR) in the precious two days between the release of the Final EIR and the first hearing, I mistook acre feet per month with acre feet per year. 11 acre feet per month equals 132 acre feet per year. Please accept my apology.

To resume: Combining all the water pumping tests whose duration was measured in "days" as opposed to "hours" only produce a maximum of 84 gallons per minute (EIR page 8-25). That's less than a cubic foot per second (.19) or only about 11 acre feet of "reliable" water per month.

Recalculating, the amount of reliable water for the project is 12 times (12 months in a year) what I wrote. Yet even 12 times the tiny amount of water available (132 acre feet per year) still only supports a maximum of 176 houses using the Water District's usage figure of three quarters of an acre foot per year. The developers are pressuring to get twice that many housesites (350) where each housesite over 2 acres can have 3 auxiliary dwelling units.

Water to supply that many dwelling units simply isn't available. There isn't anywhere close to enough for 350 houses, let alone the 1200+ houses requested. And it isn't even faintly enough for the proposed golf course.

I hope the County Health Department will reduce the total number of houses allowable and the rest of the development so that it can live within the amount of water reliably available (plus a safety margin).

It turns out I'm not the only guy who got rushed into a calculation error. The County's Environmental Impact Report over estimated by more than 10 fold the amount of water available on perhaps the most important water quantity calculation in the entire EIR.

Responding to the comments from our Water District the EIR claims (page B-81) that 44 acre feet per month is about (0.06) cubic feet per minute. If you will check my calculations I find 44 acre feet per month is about (0.73) cubic feet per second.

44 acre feet = 44 x 43,560 = 1,916,640 cubic feet

60 x 60 x 24 x 30 = 2,592,000 seconds/30 day month.

1,916,640 cubic feet (44 acre feet)

/ 2,592,000 seconds per month

= 0.73 cubic feet per second @ 44 acre feet/month.

If my calculations are correct the EIR claims there is 12 times more water available than there really is. This time did I mistake years for months or did the County?

This is a critical point since the water will probably be the primary limiting factor to the size of the development. And this specific point is raised concerning the typical low flow measurements in San Clemente creek which drains into our drinking water and (page B-73) where a significant amount of the development's water is expected to come from.

David Dilworth
Carmel

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

I am writing to express my personal opinion on the New Los Padres Dam. I think it is nothing but a waste of taxpayer's money, a brutal desecration of sacred land, and an excuse to overdevelop Carmel and Carmel Valley.

First of all, why should we, the taxpayers of this community, have to pay for someone else's mistake? The California-American Water Company (Cal-Am) has been ordered by the State Water Resources Control Board to replace over 10,000 acre feet of water which they unlawfully took from the Carmel River this past year. So Cal-Am is going to build a dam to solve their dilemma -- and make us pay for it. On top of that, if the dam is built, our water rates will rise. The initial increase would be 87 cents per water unit which would rise 3% a year to $2.11 per water unit. This means that a bill with an original cost of $50.91 would jump to $62.22.

Second of all, the November ballot is a joke. It only offers one solution to our water problem: the dam. Do we ever vote for only one president? No. There should be more alternatives on this year's ballot. How about removing the silt from the current dam, or lessening the pumping of the river, or building new desalination plants, or retrofitting toilets? Why aren't all these alternatives, which are cheaper than the dam, offered on the November ballot? Conservation is the solution to our water problem, not a new dam.

If built, the New Los Padres Dam will destroy at least 27 Native American Cultural Resource sites. These sites are still used today for prayer and Ceremony by local Native American tribes such as the Esselens and the Ohlones. How would you feel if someone simply destroyed your church or your temple without asking you? Also, all possible educational and archaeological uses of the sites would be lost.

Last but not least, I believe the dam would only lead to over development and destruction of beautiful land and natural animal habitats. The majority of the water won't be going to us, the people who paid for the dam, but to areas in

I implore all who read this letter to think about what I have said and then come up with his or her own decision concerning the New Los Padres Dam. Please remember though, that only you, the voters of this community, can determine your own future and the future of your children.

Workers at the Boeing plant in Seattle are upset because the company is subcontracting more of its new airplane construction to overseas metal benders. Entire wings come in to Seattle from China at a low cost and of a higher quality than Boeing workers...it is alleged... can deliver on the company's assembly line. Orders are up, jobs are down, workers are irate.

One of the Boeing workers was quoted as saying his father worked in the Boeing plant, he wanted to continue working in the Boeing plant, and he wanted his son to work in the Boeing plant. As emerging economies continue to respond to subcontracting arrangements with U.S. corporations, that metal bending job just won't exist in Seattle, or in any other U.S. city.

What are the job prospects for our graduating high school and college students? An e-mail posting for an executive search asks for "...someone who is very familiar with the Internet, and who has specifically designed and implemented an Internet based service/application. He/she must also be fairly deep regarding the design of graphical user interfaces and the "navigation" between applications on the Internet using Internet based standards such as HTML." Do you even know what the words mean? How does the son of a Boeing machinist come to qualify for such a job?

It is a very important question these days...at least it is to me and to my colleagues in business.

China Computerworld magazine sales grew 65% a year since 1980, and are expected to increase by 45%-50% a year for the next decade. The owner, International Data Group, discovered that information is often worth more than what it is talking about: the Airline Guide is more valuable than the airlines and the TV Guide is more valuable than any TV network. People in China are connecting, creating new markets, buying more computers and using them more. Information is a growth industry in China.

The real problem for Seattle may not be jobs lost on the assembly line at the Boeing plant; but rather that the Chinese metal bender's son will qualify for the "design of graphical user interfaces" Internet job, while the son of the metal bender laid off by Boeing in Seattle may not. Different expectations...a world apart.

The Sun's review of Sub-division Public Reports

California Land Title Association

Q. What is a Subdivision Public Report?

A. The Subdivision Public Report is a disclosure statement for the public which permits the sale of lease of lots, parcels or units within a subdivision. Just as corporations must obtain approval to issue and sell stock certificates, a developer must obtain approval to sell or lease five or more lots, parcels or units within a subdivision.

Q. Who must obtain a State of California Department of Real Estate (DRE) Subdivision Public Report?

A. Any person or persons who intend on selling or leasing five or more lots, parcels, or units within a subdivision must first obtain a Subdivision Public Report.

Q. What types of subdivision projects would be exempt from obtaining a public report?

INSTANT POSTERS - Peninsula Lazer Print's owner Dick Feaster displays the results from a new giant copier that will produce poster size documents on heavy card stock in seconds. According to Jan Feaster, the machine will turn any 8 1/2 x 11 inch flyer into a poster ready for mounting in windows or on posts.

A. Those subdivisions with less than five units; subdivisions offered by public agencies; commercial and industrial subdivisions; a standard subdivision (having no common area) within the boundaries of a city with all lots to be improved; for specific examples and explanations regarding exempt status, contact the Department of Real Estate directly at 213-897-3399.

Q. Is there more than one type of Subdivision Public Report?

A. The Subdivision Public Report, also called a White Report or Final Subdivision Public Report, authorizes a developer to sell or lease lots, parcels or units within a subdivision. On some occasions a developer may apply for a Preliminary Public Report, also known as a Pink Report, which will allow a developer to advertise and take reservation deposit monies for the sale or lease of lots, parcels or units within subdivision. Reservation deposits taken by a developer under a Preliminary Subdivision Public Report are fully refundable.

Q. What kind of information can typically be found in the Public Report?

A. The Department of Real Estate guidelines are specific about certain conditions that should always be included in the Public Report. Generally, the Public Report will disclose such information as: applicant's name, location and size of the subdivision, information on utilities, schools, taxes, management, maintenance and operational expenses, unusual easements, rights of way, set back requirements on vacant land offerings, restrictions or conditions imposed upon the buyer, any unusual costs that a consumer might have to incur and any unusual financial or conveyance arrangements. Each Public Report is unique to its specific project. The information found within the pages is provided to assist the potential purchaser with making an informed decision.

Q. What is the purpose of the Subdivision Public Report?

A. The purpose of the Report is to inform the consumer about a specific property/project, thereby offering some protection from misrepresentation, deceit and fraud. During the processing of the Report, DRE, among other things, reviews the developer's project management budget, deposit money handling, advertisements and the guarantees made to complete all promised improvements.

Q. What State agency is responsible for issuing the Subdivision Public Report?

A. Under the California Business and Transportation Agency is the Department of Real Estate, whose Chief Officer is the Real Estate Commissioner. It is his duty to issue the reports, license real estate brokers and sales persons and adopt rules and regulations for the enforcement of the California laws dealing with the real estate industry.

Q. What State agency is responsible for policing compliance with Public Reports?

A. The Commissioner of DRE is responsible. Whenever the Commissioner believes from satisfactory evidence that any person has or is about to violate any provisions, conditions or requirements of the Subdivision Public Report, he may bring an action in the Superior Court against such person, in the name of the People of the State of California.

Q. Why is the report important to a new home buyer?

A. It gives a potential home buyer pertinent information regarding the subdivision being bought into. Although the Public Report is neither an offer nor a recommendation to purchase, it is an invaluable source of information for the consumer. Also important is the disclosure portion which serves to alert customers to any negative aspects of a particular offering.

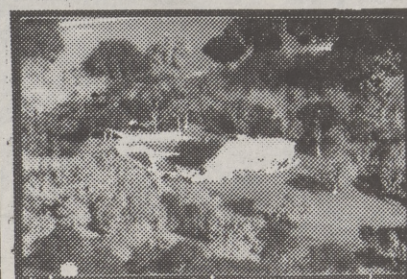

Q. How does DRE protect the subdivision purchaser?

A. DRE has established stringent guidelines and standards with which developers must comply when structuring their projects. All aspects of the subdivision offering are subjected to these guidelines and standards in order to protect the public from misrepresentation, deceit and fraud.

CUSD obtains more funding for preschool program from State

Carmel Unified School District has just received State PreSchool expansion funding from the California Department of Education's Child Development Division. These funds are to provide preschool classes for three and four year olds, with priority given to four year olds. The funding is specifically for morning preschool services.

The intent of the State PreSchool Program is to provide children at least one year of preschool to help with their transition to kindergarten.

The Carmel Child Development Center at Carmelo School is planning to expand their services by opening a new classroom as soon as families who are eligible are identified. Families who fall within the eligibility guidelines listed below qualify for these services at no cost.

Carmelo will be accepting applications throughout November and early December. The new class or classes will be configured based on the ages of the enrolling children. If you meet the eligibility criteria or would like further information, please call Barbara Beck at the Carmel Child Development Center, 624-8047.

Families whose income is equal to or less than the amount shown for the corresponding family size may be determined eligible. The income ceilings do not apply to families prioritized as recipients of child protective services.

Report from the Water District

RECAP OF OCTOBER 16, 1995, BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING.

The Board unanimously approved New Los Padres Water Supply Project Allocation Formula. The formula was developed by the Technical and Policy Advisory Committees comprised of technical staff and elected officials from each jurisdiction within the District.

The formula would allocate to each jurisdiction a "rolling block" and a "fixed block" of water to be used over a five year period. The rolling block allocation varies for each jurisdiction and is based on historic water use, the number of vacant lots and permits issued within that jurisdiction. The rolling block must be used before a jurisdiction could access its fixed block.

At the end of the five year period, any water in the rolling block not used by a jurisdiction would be returned to the general allocation. Every jurisdiction would be entitled to a 40 acre foot fixed block allocation for use after its rolling block is depleted.

If the New Los Padres Water Supply Project is approved by the voters, the allocation program could be put into effect once construction begins, possibly 1999.

In addition to approving the allocation formula, the Board of Directors concurred with plans by the Technical and Policy Advisory Committees to develop mutually acceptable definitions for "vacant lots of record" and "projects of community benefit."

The Board approved draft appointment procedures and scope of responsibilities for New Los Padres Finance Advisory Committee.

If the New Los Padres Water Supply Project is approved in November, the Board of Directors will establish a volunteer citizens' finance advisory committee to evaluate financing options

Among other things, the committee will consider the length of time for financing (20 or 30 years), and the feasibility of a joint public/private partnership with the California American Water Company.

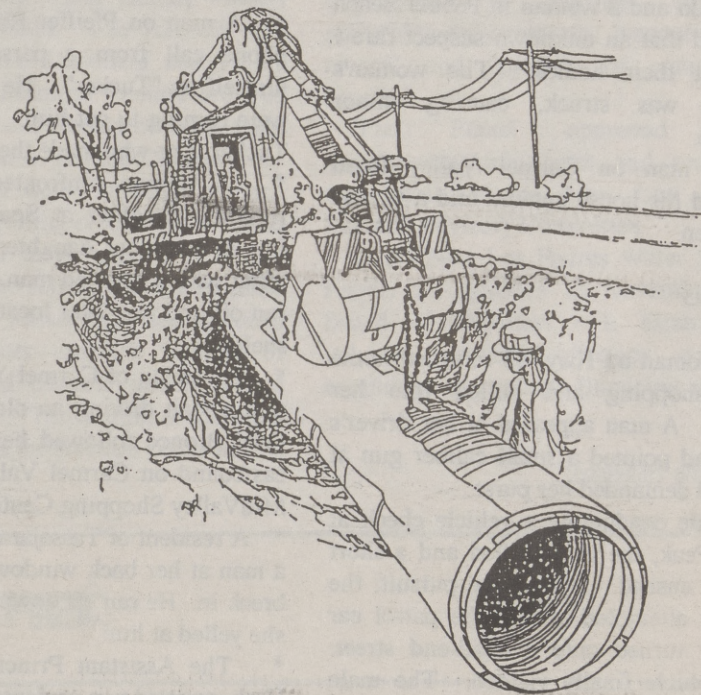

A motion to release 150 acre feet of water failed. The Board will follow the
